

Junior Environmental Consultant (m/f/x)

The company

ARCHE Consulting (www.arche-consulting.be), with offices in Ghent and Leuven, holds a unique track record in the field of (eco)toxicology, exposure modelling and the preparation of European risk and impact assessment dossiers in general. We are proud to have clients who experience/describe us as reliable and top-notch experts in health & safety issues such as Chemical Strategy for Sustainability (CSS-green Deal), REACH, Biocides, Plant Protection Products, Classification and Labeling (CLP/GHS), Cradle to Cradle, Cosmetics etc.

Learn more about what we do at ARCHE Consulting at <http://www.arche-consulting.be>

Our Vision

Our vision statement is built around these intentions:

1. To support our clients with integrative strategies for all 'hazard and risk assessment based' regulations related to the production and use of chemical substances and products
2. To be seen as the leading experts in the EU related to inorganic risk assessment and biocidal products regulation
3. To provide the best working conditions for employees seeking opportunities to deliver high quality work in an attractive working environment.
4. To encourage innovative thinking allowing ARCHE Consultings client to be the first beneficiaries of newly developed concepts and tools.

As a company, we strongly believe that the right person can learn new skills for a specific role, as long as you fit into the company values and culture. ARCHE Consulting employees appreciate the down-to-earth atmosphere, the transparent communication and decision making, the informal way of collaborating as well as the participative and authentic leadership style.

Job description

To support the continued growth of ARCHE Consulting dealing with chemical and product health, sustainability, safety and environmental programs of multi-national corporations from varied industrial sectors we are looking for a Junior Environmental Consultant (m/f/x) who would like to join our team in Ghent or Leuven.

As a Junior Environmental Consultant you will be:

- part of our Cradle to Cradle (C2C) team and assist companies in the Cradle to Cradle certification process (<https://www.arche-consulting.be/our-services/cradle-to-cradle-certification/>), EU-Ecolabel, circular economy;
- providing support and assist in technical dossier preparation for different chemical regulations (REACH, biocides transitional dossiers);
- provide assistance in audits getting companies compliant within different chemical regulatory frameworks;
- remaining aware of updates in regulatory guidance within your field;
- communicating with clients and regulatory authorities if necessary.

Your Profile:

- Bachelor degree in environmental sciences, chemistry and/or related sub-disciplines;
- Solid organizational skills to handle short tasks, requests and checks;
- Broad interest in chemicals / biocides efficacy, physico-chemistry, risk assessment and sustainability;
- You adopt a customer-oriented approach;
- Fluent in English;
- Outstanding oral and written communication skills, enabling you to communicate effectively with internal staff and external clients and management;
- 1-2 years experience in a similar position is a big plus but not a prerequisite.
- You demonstrate a strong work ethic and a positive attitude;
- You like to have fun both in your work and with the team.

What do we offer:

- A participative company culture, where you can take initiative, share your ideas and where your opinion counts
- A nice bunch of colleagues, always ready to help you and in for some fun. You'll be able to get to know them even better during activities such as our monthly breakfast, weekly sport, yearly teambuilding activities and kids day.
- Flexibility in the organization of your work (e.g. partial working from home), with eye for a healthy work/life balance, as long as the work gets done
- A competitive salary package, including extralegal benefits (group insurance, bonus system, health insurance) and a flexible reward plan, allowing you to select a number of benefits according to your needs and interests
- An attractive holiday system (20 + 12 days)
- A professional environment which supports you in your personal development & growth, by means of internal/external trainings, coaching, conferences, etc.
- An international dimension in your work

So, if you already share an honest interest in building a sustainable environment by advising our clients with our niche expertise, then you can surely find enough challenges within ARCHE Consulting. We look forward to welcoming team members who like working on diverse and challenging projects. To stay up-to-date and deliver outstanding solutions we are willing to train, stretch and re-train our employees.

We would love to connect with you if you recognize yourself in this career opportunity.

We are looking forward to receiving your application sent by mail to marnix.vangheluwe@archeconsulting.be